WOMENS MORALITY
WAKENED BY WAR
SAYS FEMINIST

Cicely Hamilton Says Woman's Condition Since World War Infinitely Worse, Economically, Socially and Morally

MOST GIRLS IN ENGLAND TAUGHT TO WORK

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, April 2.—Anybody can see the position of women has grown worse since the war. Men are bad enough off—women are worse. There are more of them. And they must fight prejudices, customs, laws, discriminations. Things will get worse before they get better.

That comes from Cicely Hamilton, writer, speaker, actress—and one of the most prominent feminists in Europe.

Her experience as a lecturer before working girls' clubs during the war makes her an authority on Europe's problem of 20,000,000 women of the present generation who will be denied homes and children because there are no husbands for them.

"In England the after-the war blow has hit women less hard despite the fact that we have two million more women than men," she says.

"We have been used to this. For decades our men have migrated all over the world.

Girls Taught to Work

"Middle class families' parents recognized the great probability their girls might not marry. So they educated them to take care of themselves by useful work.

"What English girls long ago learned, the girls of other European nations are now having to learn. But the result everywhere is the same—overcrowding of the ranks of the work seekers.

"If the various trades unions and similar organizations are wise they will face the facts and join the feminists in their fight for equal pay for equal work.

"If they don't they will put a terrible weapon in the hands of the big employers. Because once you get the trades unions definitely aligned against women drawing the same pay as men, you are on the way to destroy men's labor unions. The employers will simply hire women, who are cheaper, more tractable and more easily cowed.

Morals Sink

"Morals of the after-the-war woman have been definitely lowered. This began during the war. Women who were going to stay home felt they owed everything to the men who were going into the trenches—and they gave.

"Unfortunately the war also created a huge class of women for whom there was only one word in the dictionary—pleasure. These serving in government bureaus or munition factories, drew double and triple the salaries they could draw in normal times.

"Fur coats, expensive hats, chocolates, the theater became an time necessities of their being. They could obtain these things with their own pay envelopes.

"Then came the armistice and discharge from their jobs. Girls were reckless. Restraints were resented and thrown off.

"You see the result in the crowds of fun-seekers who haunt the flashy restaurants, the night clubs, the cabarets, the jazz palaces in every big European city.

"But after all, this is only a passing phase."

Barber Shop Contest Closes

Eleven was the lucky number for the boys and fifty-five for the girls in the contest, carried on the past two months by the Cumberland Hotel barber shop and brought to a close yesterday. The lucky boy will be given a baseball outfit and the girl a large doll. These prizes have been on display at the Shelburne drug store.

NO SURRENDER TO FRANCE SAYS CUNO

So Long As He Is Chancellor, Germany Holds Out—International Mediation Sought

By William P. Simms

VIENNA, April 2.—On high authority the writer understands that Chancellor Cuno of Germany has stated privately that so long as he is Chancellor, Germany will not raise the flag of surrender to France.

On the other hand Cuno is most eager to have international mediation.

My perspective, gained here after visits to France the Ruhr and Germany, is that Cuno probably would fall if he surrendered point blank.

Also I am convinced France will not leave the Ruhr until she obtains both a reparations settlement and a guarantee against the perpetual nightmare of future German aggression.

If England and American give such a guarantee, well and good. If not, France will make a guarantee for herself.

Germany is aware of this; hence her desire for outside intervention.

By Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Apr. 2.—Five or six men armed with sawed off shotguns held up a mail truck in the business section of the city, took a quantity of registered mail, locked the driver and messenger in the cage of the truck and escaped.

The truck was on its way from the main postoffice to a substation. The hold up occurred in the heart of the stock brokerage district. A postoffice inspector said he was unable to estimate the value of the stolen pouches until a check had been made. He said however, there was no bank mail in the loot.

NOTHING MEDIOCRE ABOUT SHOW COMING FRIDAY NIGHT

The musical comedy triumph of this and last season, "Take It From Me" will be the attraction at the Manning Friday night.

This is the show that made the Studabaker Theatre in Chicago the most popular playhouse of that center, playing there to capacity houses for nineteen weeks and then obliged to move to other pastures simply because of previous bookings that could not be changed.

We are promised catchy music good fast comedy, pretty girls, and stunning clothes, all of which are some of the good and sufficient reasons why "Take It From Me" is not complaining at the high cost of living, railroad fares, etc., a condition which has become a common complaint with producers endeavoring to sell mediocre wares.

BASEBALL AND TRACK TO ORGANIZE HERE THIS WEEK

Baseball and track teams have not been organized yet, though the high school boys practiced nearly every afternoon last week, according to Prof. Jack Porter, athletic instructor. It is thought that the work of organization will be completed this week.

Preliminary practice in football by players who hope to make the first team next season also took place last week. With two more months of school this season, Prof. Porter and the boys expect to make considerable progress in outdoor sports.

L. C. I. WINS N DOUBLE-HEADER WITH JONESVILLE

BWING, Va., Apr. 2.—The Field Day series of ball games began very favorably for Lee Industrials School, when the girls and boys won the basketball and baseball games, respectively, the first of the series, played with Jonesville Saturday, at Jonesville. Both games were good ones, and Prof. R. C. Graham, coach of both the local teams, is much encouraged by this splendid opening.

The basketball score was 12 to 17 for L. C. I. The baseball game stood 12 to 12 at the end of the ninth inning but Ewing madethree scores in the first half of the tenthinning, bringing the score to 12 to 15. A large number of Ewing fans went to Jonesville for the games.

Family Trouble Causes Tragedy Near Speedwell—16-Year-Old Boy Not Arrested

Alf Wilkerson was fatally shot by his sixteen-year old stepson, Clifton Leech, near Speedwell at the former's home yesterday morning. Wilkerson was brought to the Broshier-Brummett hospital where he died about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The killing was the outgrowth of family troubles. The youthful slayer has not been arrested.

According to Mrs. Wilkerson, wife of the deceased, Wilkerson came to his home drunk yesterday morning and told his stepson that he did not belong there and that he must leave at once or he would kill him. The boy left, accompanied by his mother. Wilkerson is said to have taken his shotgun and threatened the boy. The mother and son went to a neighbor's house and remained for a while.

Wilkerson left the house later and Clifton and his mother returned. Wilkerson, apparently intoxicated, returned to his home and broke open the door of a room in which Clifton and Mrs. Wilkerson had barricaded themselves. The boy, who had secured Wilkerson's own shotgun, fired when the latter approached him. The full charge of shot struck Wilkerson in the left shoulder. He was rushed to the hospital here where he subsequently died.

Wilkerson was about thirty-five years of age. Both he and his stepson were employees of the Mingo mines. The deceased is said to have been subject to drinking spells during which he always made trouble at home. He is survived by a wife and five children. Funeral arrangements have not been announced. There is said to be no talk of having Leech arrested for the shooting.

All Miners Working Today Except Those Attending Celebration In Pineville

There was no strike of coal miners in this vicinity today, according to local coal operators. With two exceptions the mines are running as usual today. Employees of the Congress and Gunn mines are at Pineville attending the United Mine Workers' celebration but, so far as is known, no strike has been declared in these mines.

Local operators are gratified at the loyalty of the miners of this section who have elected to remain at their work instead of augmenting the present industrial unrest by a walkout. Most of the local mines are operated by non-union men, the Gunn and Congress mines being the only exceptions.

PINEVILLE TODAY

About Five Thousand Men From Neighboring Mining Camps Celebrate Eight-Hour Work Day Anniversary

PARADE THIS MORNING, SPEAKING IN AFTERNOON

PINEVILLE, Apr. 2.—Approximately five thousand miners and their families are in Pineville today to take part in the big United Mine Workers celebration being held here. The celebration is a commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the advent of the eight-hour work day. A similar celebration on a smaller scale, was held in Harlan yesterday.

Early this morning the miners, most of them dressed in clean new overalls, began to arrive in town. Some of them came on foot, some on horseback, some in cars, and two special trains came down from the two sides of Straight Creek, both so full of passengers that a number of them were hanging on the outside. All of the store buildings in Pineville are decorated in bunting and flags. Bright-colored balloons and hastily constructed lemonade and pop corn stands lend a carnival atmosphere to the occasion. Every one seemed happy in truest holiday style but there was no suggestion of disorder.

The parade was held a little before noon. About three thousand men took part in this, walking four abreast and stretching out in a line more than five blocks long. Grouch's Band of Knoxville headed the procession. Banners with such slogans as "Hurray for the Miners," and "Every Man's Friend," and flags and posters of various kinds were plentiful in the ranks.

The speaking was all scheduled for this afternoon. Most notable among the speakers are William Green, International Secretary and Treasurer of the United Mine Workers; William Turnbull, president of District 19 miners; and Sanford Snyder, local organizer.

So far as is known, the boy did not have any money when he left and it is the belief of the father that he will not be able to travel far. This is the first time he has run away from home and Mr. Lumpkins was greatly surprised at his action.

NEW SHIPMENT FORDS RECEIVED

Match Bros., Local Agents, To Push
Sale Of Lincoln Cars Here
This Year

A number of Ford touring cars and two trucks were received by the Match Motor Company Saturday. In spite of the practicable impossibility of getting deliveries from the Ford factories, the local agency has sold fifteen cars this month. Many more could have been sold had delivery facilities been better.

Special efforts will be made by the Match Bros. this spring to sell the Lincoln car for which they have the agency. The Lincoln is also manufactured by the Ford company which required it several months ago, rescued it from bankruptcy and practically double the output.

The car which is considered one of the best on the market has heretofore not had a very large sale in this section of that country, the reason apparently, being its high price. Yet for smooth running, endurance and aristocracy of design it is said to be the best car on the market for the price.

When Henry Ford acquired the ownership and management of the Lincoln company, he not only continued to manufacture it of the same high grade materials which hitherto had entered into its composition but also reduced the price from $1000 to $1200 on the different models.

The company is now uniquely situated in that it is able to supply the lowest price standard car on the market and also a standard high-grade high-priced car.

EIGHT STUDEBAKERS DELIVERED IN PAST MONTH

With eight cars sold and delivered and March and with four more sold not delivered, the Middlesboro Motor company is gratified by the present outlook of business. All of the cars sold have been Studebakers. The factory is so far behind with orders that prompt deliveries are impossible and these conditions have greatly curtailed the sales of the firm.

Three car loads of Studebakers are on the road now and the firm expects to receive them by April 5. Receipt of these will greatly relieve the situation.

In addition to the work being done in the agency of the Studebaker, Essex and Hudson cars, the firm is also building up a nice repair and service business. New accessories and tires are constantly being added to the stocks.

LESLIE AND RICHARDSON GET NEW BATTERY AGENCY

Agency for the Vesta battery has been secured by the Service Motor company, operated by Leslie and Richardson. The battery is said to be one of the best on the market and the firm considers the agency a good stroke of business.

Though it has been in general operation only a few weeks, the shop is already kept busy in general repair work and service on the Star and Durant car for which the Tri-State motor company is local agent. All of their shop equipment has not been installed yet but the additional fixtures are expected to arrive soon.

The firm specializes on battery service. Their stocks are complete and are entirely new and satisfaction is guaranteed.

PLAN TWO-STORY BUICK GARAGE

Catron To Build On Vacant Lot
Adjoining Present Building
Next Summer

A two-story garage is being planned by William Catron, owner of the Catron garage, on the vacant lot recently purchased adjoining his garage. Foundations for the building will be laid at once and further work will begin this summer. He expects to have it completed by next fall.

The lot is fifty feet wide and 155 feet in length. The building will cover most of the ground, though its exact size and interior arrangements have not been worked out. A general service and repair station will be maintained and an up-to-date paint shop will be established, possibly on the second floor. The remainder of the second floor will probably be made into an apartment.

The move to larger quarters is made imperative by reason of the growth of business. With the Buick agency, repair department and accessory shop the building now occupied by the company. All branches of the work will be greatly enlarged when the business is established in the new quarters and the paint department will be added. The old building will be retained and made into an accessory store.

The past month has been one of the most successful that the Catron garage has ever had, according to Mr. Catron. Twenty cars have been sold and many others could have been disposed of had the Buick factory been able to make deliveries.

A number of used cars are bought and sold by this company, though on account of the limited space its impossible to keep a stock of these on hand now. With the completion of the proposed new building, Mr. Catron says he hopes to do an extensive business in this line.

GARAGE GAS AND GOSSIP

To those who think this is not essentially an agricultural section, it might be of interest to know that there are two dozen or more Fordson tractors on display at the Match garage and many others have been sold and delivered. Though utterly lacking in motive power, they are in other respects pumny counterparts of the original. They are given away absolutely free—on certain conditions.

A representative of a Louisville automobile accessory firm who was in Middlesboro last week said that we have too many agencies considering the size of the town. He doubtless did not know that local agencies serve the entire county and surrounding counties in some instances and that the sales of the Dodge agency rank next to those of his own city.

Local citizen missed his Ford from its parking place Friday night and supreme happiness and content reigned in his mind until he learned the next day that the car was not stolen but had been taken into its garage.

Bus operators report a good business for last week. With court in session at Tazewell, Andy Moyers has carried an unusually large number on the Middlesboro-Tazewell lines.

The nickel Fords are having a big sale in Middlesboro, probably because deliveries on them are more prompt than on the tin models.

A stranger hunted for a taxi cab for perhaps five minutes before finding one a few days ago. It has been suggested that he have his eyes examined.

DORT BUSINESS HERE SUCCESS

Seventy-five Cars Sold Here By Evans and Ramey Since Their Organization

With a total of seventy-five Dort cars sold since the agency was organized here eighteen months ago, the Evans and Ramey firm is gratified with the indications of public approval of the car. The Dort was almost entirely unknown here when the agency began business but now it is ranking favorably in numbers with the other leading makes that are seen daily on the streets.

Three car loads of Dorts are now on their way to Middlesboro and three of these automobiles have already been sold. The Dort factory is behind with orders owing to the increasing demand for the cars and those already sold have been ordered for more than a month.

anything else to bring the car to the front and to establish its reputation. It took Dort engineers six years to design and build the Dort Six motor and previous to the actual work they spent one year traveling over the country and testing the other makes of engines with a view to making the Dort engine as nearly perfect as possible.

Chief among the improvements in the engine is the lubrication system. An added advantage of very great importance is a device which regulates the flow of oil to meet the need for lubrication as the need varies in accordance with the engine load.

In order to eliminate vibration all reciprocating parts of the Dort Six motor have been made lighter in weight. Economy of operation has been attained without sacrificing speed or smoothness. Twenty-four miles on a gallon of gasoline at a speed of thirty miles an hour is indeed thrifty operation.

NINETY-TWO DODGES ALLOTTED LOCAL AGENCY

Ninety-two cars have been allotted the F. P. Scales agency for March, April, May and June. With the demand for Dodges growing daily, the local agency is looking forward to the best business year they have ever had.

J. W. Scales is now in charge of the Scales service agency on the corner of Twentieth street and Lothbury avenue. Their capacity for doing repair jobs has recently been enlarged and expert mechanics are employed throughout. An air compressor has been ordered and will be installed as soon as it arrives. Free air will then be available for the public.

TRI-STATE MOTOR CO. MAKES SALES RECORD LAST MONTH

With a sale of twenty-eight Star and Durant cars during the single month that it has been in business the Tri-State Motor company has perhaps made a record that has never been equaled by any other local firm for the first month's business.

Up until the present the firm has been favored with prompt deliveries from the factory but owing to the increased sales of Stars and Durants over the country, delivery is now becoming a difficult proposition. The instantaneous public approval of these two makes of cars is clearly indicated in the recent excellent record of the local agency.

BILLS, BILLS, BILLS!

Auto Laws of All Kinds Proposed in Every State

More than a quarter of a century after the production of the first automobile, laws are still being considered to regulate it, tax it, curb it and—rarely—help it.

In California alone, the present session of the Legislature is considering 75 bills more or less directly concerned with the automobile. One bill out of every five presented to the Illinois Legislature is an auto measure. Ohio representatives are swamped with auto bills, and so it goes in practically every state in the union.

Most of the bills being considered in the various states may be listed under these five subjects:

1. Gasoline tax.
2. Truck weight limitation.
3. Compulsory insurance.
4. Laws governing accessories.
5. Speed regulation.

Gas Tax Favorite

The most popular class is the first T here is hardly a state which has not already passed, or is considering a gasoline tax. And this in spite of the fact that a federal injunction has been drawn against collection of the tax an Arkansas and that the Supreme Court is considering its validity. California, in fact, has two bills that would levy taxes on motor vehicle tires as well.

Bills intended to limit the weight of trucks not so much for taxation purposes as for the maintenance of highways. Heavy fines are proposed for overweight vehicles. In Texas, if one bill became law, a truck owner would have to pay duty based on the engine horsepower and weight of the truck so that a 60-horsepower vehicle weighing five tons would be taxed $525.

Compulsory insurance is gaining headway throughout the country. The law proposed in Massachusetts seems fair and is favored by the motor clubs. By it, the state would charge every motorist $10 a year and insure him for $5000. That would furnish more than $4,000,000 as an insurance fund to start with.

Lighted Signal Arm

The signal arm shown here, makes hand stretching unnecessary. It is operated by a small lever inside the car, enabling the arm to be set in any of the three positions. A red light at the tip is intended as a parking light.

Tube Water Pail

A good section of an old inner tube may be cut off to make a water pail such as shown here. Heat one end until it becomes sticky enough to glue tightly together. Then turn the other end over a piece of wire that has been formed into a circle and handle. The tube will be handy for filling the radiator on the highway.

Accessory Boosters

Automobile clubs are denouncing the various 'accessory bills' proposed in the state legislatures. Such, for instance, as requiring a mechanical signal to show the way the automobile intends to turn, or one requiring a radiator cap attachment showing a green light to the left and a red light to the right of the driver. This is one of the freak bills proposed in Illinois.

Speed regulation is still the bugaboo of motorists. While a number of states bills would raise the speed limit from 30 to 35 miles an hour on state highways, another would limit it to 25 miles and make a jail sentence mandatory if a driver is convicted of exceeding this limit. Another bill would require the installation of a governor on each engine to control the car's speed.

Besides these are all sorts of unclassified bills. A California, for example, would make traps illegal.

Another would require thumb prints on each operator's license. In Illinois, the license and engine number of every auto taken into a garage would have to be recorded, if one bill became a law.

These give only an idea of the scattered array of bills before the state Legislatures at present.

TOMATO SAUCE

Probably no sauce is used more often and with more satisfactory results than a tomato sauce.

Of course one made with some meat stock is richer and better flavored, but with plenty of seasoning a good one can be made without stock. Such, for instance, is this:

Prepare two cups of tomatoes, one small onion (thinly sliced), two tablespoons bacon fat, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon each of sugar and salt, one whole clove, one-half teaspoon peppercorns, a small piece of bayleaf and two teaspoons chopped celery, or instead of the celery have one-half teaspoon celery salt, a sprig of parsley and one-eighth teaspoon thyme.

Fry the onion in the bacon fat, add flour and brown. Then add tomatoes and seasonings and cook slowly 20 minutes. Strain, rubbing every bit of pulp through the sieve. Season more to taste and serve.

SHE FEEDS HIM BEANS

Will Rogers' Wife Tells How to Hold Husband

MRS. WILL ROGERS, WIFE OF THE COWBOY HUMORIST AND THEIR 9-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER, MARY.

Gy Josephine Van de Grift

NEW YORK, March 29.—Meet the wife that's got the greatest competition in the world. She's Mrs. Will Rogers.

Every night her husband steps out and cavorts around the most remarkable aggregation of grace, charm and pulchritude that the word has ever known—the young women of Mr. Ziegfeld's Follies.

Does Mrs. Rogers get nervous about it?

Not that anybody knows of. Ever so often she commutes into New York to see that Will has plenty of clean collars and things and then she commutes back to California to perform a similar service for the Rogers' offspring, Bill, Mary and Jim.

But all the time she's perfectly calm. And every night, whether the missus is in New York or California, Will Rogers steps out on the stage and pulls the venerable gag:

"Teh, I'm one of them movie actors from Hollywood. But I'm an unusual movie actor. I been married 15 years and I got the same wife I started with."

Mrs. Rogers gives these tips on how to keep a husband's love under Follies competition:

His favorite dish is beans. As a cowboy he learned to like beans. Mrs. Rogers says, "My goodness, Will, I do wish you'd eat something else!" She does not. She serves him beans twice a week.

TWO. Laugh at his jokes. (Even if they're old ones, she adds.)

THREE. Encourage his hobbies. (Mr. Rogers' hobby is music. He plays the ukelele. And Mrs. Rogers never groans.)

FOUR. Let him wear his old clothes if he wants to. (She says old clothes got Will into the movies. A movie producer was going down the street one day wondering where he could pick up a tramp that looked like a tramp. He saw Will Rogers. "Ah," exclaimed Mr. Goldwyn or whoever it was "the very type!")

Mrs. Rogers says being married to a professional humorist isn't nearly as funny as it may seem.

Music Can't Be Forced on Child

MME. OLGA SAMAROFF (ABOVE) AND MME. LOUISE HOMER

If your boy prefers baseball to violin practice and your girl would rather play jacks than the piano, let the children follow their inclinations.

Don't force a technical musical education on them.

That's the advice of two of the leading stars on the concert stage today—Mme. Louise Homer, famous contralto, and Mme. Olga Samaroff, pianist. Both are mothers, and both say if their children had no inclination to learn the mechanics of music they would not force this on them.

But musical appreciation can be fostered in pleasant ways than by technical learning, they agree. Mme.

Homer believes it is more important to appreciate a masterpiece than to struggle through a sonata without pleasure.

"The development of musical taste," she says, "comes from constantly hearing the best music. Technical study is for the few and gifted, but esthetic study and familiarity of the classics should be within the reach of all children."

To this Mme. Samaroff adds:

"Instead of chaining a child to an instrument and forcing it to make bad music it is possible to develop through study of musical history and theory and concerts a love and understanding of music in the child."

It is my hope that courses on musical appreciation will have a definite place in all school and colleges."

Does Sex Pity Sway Murder Juries? 'No', Says Woman

By Josephine Van de Grift

NEW YORK, March 27—Is it hard to convict a woman of murder?

"Yes," says the prosecutor who recently secured the conviction of Mrs. Lillian Raizen.

"No," says a woman lawyer who successfully defended Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wells from charges growing out of the death of a Long Island innkeeper.

"Yes," says a veteran trial lawyer, who believes sympathy rules most murder juries.

Yet two of the last three murder cases in which women were the defendants resulted in convictions. Mrs. P. Saludes received a prison sentence of 20 years to life for the murder of her banker-lover, Oscar Martelliere. Mrs. Raizen received a similar sentence for the murder of Dr. Abraham Gluckstein.

"The trouble with most murder cases is which a woman is the defendant," says Joseph V. Gallagher, prosecutor in the Raizen case, "has been that the dead man was held up for trial instead of the woman. If it could be shown that the dead man was a roofer and deserved to be killed anyway the woman was acquitted and she walked out of the courtroom in the midst of a cheering crowd."

"But that day is rapidly passing. Partly it's the flapper's fault. By her exaggerated conduct she has gradually had their accidents reduced to practically none at all."

The phone pressure method of resuscitation from electric shock was by and on some of the men who had not seen this method demonstrated.

SAUL, L. M. U. MUSICAL CANTATA, GREAT SUCCESS

HARROGATE, Apr. 2.—The dramatic musical cantata given under the direction of Prof. J. W. Denny of the Music Department of the University Friday evening, March 30, at Harrogate, was accepted by the audience as the best musical treat of the year.

Prof. Denny had selected his characters well to play the leading parts of the cantata, "Saul, King of Israel," and the play moved forward with a majestic swing that made a person forget that it was being rendered by amateurs who had spent only a few weeks on its preparation. Vernon Wall, as King Saul; Miss Ruth Moore, as Michal, the daughter of Saul and lover of the shepherd boy, David; and Guy Easterly as David, were real artists in their roles. Especially was this true of Miss Moore who rendered the love lyrics with a compelling pathos and sweetness that captured the hearts of the listeners. Other solo parts were splendidly taken by Atwell Davis, as the prophet Samuel, Miss Otella Overton, as Abigail, James Combs, as Jonathan, and Miss Oriana Bett, as the witch of Endor.

The chorus of fifty students, beautifully costumed, strongly supported the soloists with a rich harmony, and the entire cast in the cantata rendered their parts so well that it reflected great credit upon Prof. Denny's training and the work of the musical department.

SAFETY MEETING OF K. U. EMPLOYEES SATURDAY

There was an unusually interesting though short Safety First meeting held Saturday forenoon at eleven o'clock at the new ice plant of the K. U. Co., now under construction. There were present, W. C. Stair, President; F. S. Lee, secretary; F. D. Wilson, superintendent of electric department; Sam Cooke, foreman water department; and K. U. Co. employees, John Wilson, Grant Wilson, Marion Snyder, Joe Brewer and Jack Pearl.

A. B. Miller, supervisor of building construction of the new ice plant, and employees, M. M. Rice, Wm. Williams, Sam Porter, Tilman Sowders, Jeff Haler, Tom Powell, Arch Estep, Marion Estep, J. P. Landay, H. M. Foltz, Roscoe Gillenwater, J. S. and O. C. Chadwell, Herbert McManaway, A. M. McBoe, Thos. Barnett, C. L. Rector, Jack Sutton, Richard Simmons, J. B. Idol, James Nonell C. I. Fortner, R. A. Miller, Sam Williams and T. S. Miller, (colored).

After routine matters were attended to President Stair explained what the Safety First movement was, and how it stood for the saving of the lives of the employees and of the public. That companies that held safety meetings and practiced safety methods had shaken man from the notion that woman was entitled to some special defense.

"Partly the growth of suffrage is responsible. Along with equal rights women have learned that they must accept equal responsibilities and that the law can no longer be expected to make sex discriminations."

Miss Helen P. McCormick, a former assistant district attorney who defended Mrs. Wells, is convinced that public opinion has swung so far the other way that there is danger at the present time of doing injustice to women on trial for murder.

"This phase will also pass," says McCormick, "and at some time in the future we may expect the ideal condition in which sex discriminations play no part."

But is public opinion changing? The sympathies of the world always have been, always will be with the weaker declares Max D. Steur, recognized as one of the greatest trial lawyers in America.

"Some women may admire the swaggering bully," says Steur. "But men have a horror of him. Confront a jury of 12 men with a woman who has been abused and tormented until finally in desperation she has killed her tormentor—and they will acquit her every time. The attorney for the defense has much the better of it."

At Christian church services yesterday about three hundred dollars was raised for the Christian church Widows' and Orphans' Home to be built in Louisville at a cost of $100,000. About two-thirds of this amount was raised in the Men's Bible Class.

Dr. Roddy Back Tonight
Dr. J. M. Roddy will be in tonight from Morristown where he has been the past two weeks substituting for the pastor of the Baptist church of that place who had been ill. He will visit Dr. and Mrs. U. G. Brummett here for a few days.

TRIMMED IN LEATHER

The three-piece costume is going to greater lengths this spring than it did in the winter. Nearly every costume has to have its matching cape or jacket to be really correct. This one of beige wool is trimmed with an applique design in black leather. The collar and sleeves bear the imprint of Paris.
